

POETICAL.

For the Marshall County Republican.
THE PRINCE HALL'S LAMENTATION.

TUNE—Capt. Kidd.
My name is Harry Clay, of the West, of the West,

My name is Harry Clay of the West,
At politics and "play"—
As Brag, I've lead the way,
But alas! I've "had my day"—
In the West.

I'd the banks all in my hand when I sailed
when I sailed—
I'd the banks all in my hand when I sailed:
I'd the banks all in my hand.
But their vaults were filled with sand:
Then the people made demand,
And I failed!

"There's Illinois and Maine: they have gone—
they have gone—
There's Illinois and Maine, they've gone,
There's Illinois and Maine,
Have gone back to truth again,
And from this 'tis very plain,
We are done!"

"And Maryland, the jade, followed suit—
And Maryland, the jade, followed suit:

And Maryland, the jade, follows suit:
And Maryland, the jade, follows suit:
And Maryland, the jade, follows suit:
And Maryland, the jade, follows suit:

And Missouri likewise, cruel fate!
And Missouri likewise, cruel fate!

And Missouri likewise, cruel fate!
And Missouri likewise, cruel fate!
And Missouri likewise, cruel fate!
And Missouri likewise, cruel fate!

"And Pennsylvania, too—what a shame!
And Pennsylvania, too—what a shame!"

And Pennsylvania, too, what a shame!
And Pennsylvania, too, what a shame!
And Pennsylvania, too, what a shame!
And Pennsylvania, too, what a shame!

But Ohio, you know, served us worst,
But Ohio, you know, served us worst:

But Ohio, you know, served us worst—
But Ohio, you know, served us worst—
But Ohio, you know, served us worst—
But Ohio, you know, served us worst!

Her farmers and mechanics, blast their eyes,
Her farmers and mechanics, blast their eyes:

Her farmers and mechanics, blast their eyes—
Her farmers and mechanics, blast their eyes—
Her farmers and mechanics, blast their eyes—
Her farmers and mechanics, blast their eyes!

And so the game is up—brother Whigs,
And so the game is up—brother Whigs!

And so the game is up—brother Whigs!
And so the game is up—brother Whigs!
And so the game is up—brother Whigs!
And so the game is up—brother Whigs!

"Oh, I wish I was a geese all forlorn, all forlorn,
"Oh, I wish I was a geese all forlorn, all forlorn:

I wish I was a geese all forlorn:
I wish I was a geese all forlorn:
I wish I was a geese all forlorn:
I wish I was a geese all forlorn!

And they 'cumulate much greuse,
And they 'cumulate much greuse,

Eatin corn!
Eatin corn!

Well! let's pass the whiskey round brother Whigs, brother Whigs!

Well! let's pass the whiskey round brother
Whigs!

Well! let's pass the whiskey round
For salt river we are bound

Where we all must soon be found, brother

DEMOCRATIC REVIEW.

IT has long been apparent to many of the reflecting members of the Democratic Party of the United States, that a periodical for the advocacy and diffusion of their political principles, similar to those in such active and influential operation in England, would be a desideratum of great importance to the cause. A periodical which should unite with the attractions of a sound and vigorous literature, a political character capable of giving efficient support to the doctrines and measures of that party, now maintained by a large majority of the people. Discussing the great questions of policy before the country, exposing and advocating the Democratic doctrine through the most able pens that party can furnish, in articles of greater length, more condensed force, more elaborate research, and more elevated tone, than is possible for the newspaper press, a Magazine of this character becomes an instrument of inappreciable value for the enlightenment and formation of public opinion, and for the support of the principles which it advocates.—By these means, by thus explaining and defending the measures of the great Democratic Party, and by always furnishing to the public a clear and powerful commentary upon those complex questions of policy and party which so frequently distract the country, and upon which, imperfectly understood as they often are by friends, and misrepresented and distorted as they necessarily are by political opponents, it is of the utmost importance that the public should be fully and informed, it is hoped that the periodical in question may be made to exert a beneficial, rational, and lasting influence on the public mind.

Other considerations, which cannot be too highly appreciated, will render the establishment and success of the proposed Magazine of very great importance.
In the history of the antagonistic Party of the United States stands committed to the world as the depository and exemplar of those cardinal doctrines of political faith with which the cause of the People in every age and country is identified. Chiefly from the want of a convenient means of concentrating the intellectual energies of its disciples, this party has hitherto been almost wholly unrepresented, in the republic of letters, which views and policy of its opposing creeds are advocated by the ablest and most commanding efforts of genius and learning.

In the United States Magazine, the attempt will be made to move this reproach.

Co-ordinate with this aim a design of the United States Magazine, no care or cost will be spared to render it, in a literary point of view, honorable to the country in vigor and rivalry with its European competitors. Viewing the English language as the noblest and common birthright of all who speak the tongue of Milton and Shakespeare, it will be the uniform object of its contributors to present only the finest productions in the various branches of literature that can be procured; and to diffuse the benefit of correct models of taste and worthy execution.

In this department the existence of party, which is inseparable from the political department of such a work, will have no place. Here we will stand on a neutral ground of equality and reciprocity where those universal principles of taste to which we are all alike
subject, will also be recognized as the common law—
Our political principles cannot be compromised, but our common principles must be extended, and with a liberality of feeling unobscured by partial or minor views.

As the United States Magazine is founded on the broadest basis which the means and influence of the Democratic Party in the United States can present, it is every respecters thorough NATIONAL WORK; not merely designed for ephemeral interest and attraction, but to continue of permanent historical value. With this view, a considerable portion of each number will be appropriated to the following subjects, in addition to the general features referred to above.

A general summary of Political and domestic intelligence, digested in order of the States, comprising all the authentic important facts of the preceding month, General Literary Intelligence, Domestic and Foreign.

General Scientific Intelligence, including Agricultural Improvements, a notice of all new Patents, &c.
A condensed account of all new works of Improvement throughout the Union.

Military and Naval News, Promotions, Changes, Movements, &c.
General Intelligence, including notices of distinguished persons.

After the close of each session of Congress, an extra or enlarged number will be published, containing a general review and history of its proceedings, a condensed abstract of important official documents, and the acts of the session.
